

WINTER BLUES

Have you ever wondered why it seems that your hair grows much slower during the Winter months? If so, you are not alone...

Typically throughout the warmer seasons our hair grows by as much as 1/8" per month, depending on your hair type, hair care routine, etc. The reason is simply stimulation. The sun stimulates your hair through heat, causing it to grow at a faster rate. There are studies on what makes the sunlight trigger growth, and it is still somewhat unknown. If you want your hair to grow at a faster rate, some have found (and it is not proven) that getting scalp massages on a regular basis (go to a massage therapist/salon or perform one on yourself) that hair may grow at a quicker rate.

If you have experienced hair loss and are interested in trying a new routine, ask your stylist about the new formula from Nioxin for hair loss, and Davines Energizing Shampoo take-home kits.
